FOREIGNERS PESSIMISTIC

Outlook in China is Said to Be Very Far From Encouraging.

ANTI-FOREIGN ARMY CORPS

Evidence of Continued Domination of the Influence of Yung Lu---Return of Dowager Empress.

By Associated Press.

Peking, Jan. 2.—Several recent occurrences tend to discourage the hope that the dowager empress had learned a lesson of reform from the events of the past year. Foreigners are disposed to take a pessimistic view of the outlook. General Yung Lu's determination to organize two anti-foreign army corps to be under the commands of the anti-foreign Chinese leaders is particularly disquieting, and in evidence of the continued domination of his influence, which is bitterly anti-foreign.

Other incidents which are considered significant are the suppression of the only independent newspaper in this city by order of the governor of Peking and the closing of the industrial school here, recently organized by philanthropic Chinese, also by the governor's order. This school was intended for the training of destitute youths. Other liberal Chinese will hesitate now to give practical vent to their theories, fearing the displeasure of officialdom.

A third edict regarding the recent murder of a Belgian priest near Ningkiang, in Kansuh province, has appeared. It appoints a special official to punish those who are guilty of the crime, and reaffirms the dowager empress' good will toward Christians. This is unusual activity upon the part of the court in the punishment of those guilty of an anti-Christian outrage, and is taken as evidence of the dowager empress' desire to conciliate the powers, upon the eve of the return of the court to Peking.

Proofs accumulate that Prince Ching's arguments persuaded the dowager empress to trust herself within range of the legation forts. Officials arriving here describe the dowager empress and General Lu as being extremely nervous and suspicious lest the foreigners are planning to entrap them after their arrival and punish them for encouraging Boxerism.

The foreigners will probably view the court's re-entry into Peking from the wall near the legations.

The Chinese officials have been sounded by the ministers as to whether they will enforce the old custom of restraining of foreigners from witnessing imperial processions. The replies are not encouraging. The treaty gives the legations a strip of wall commanding a view of the gates of the imperial city and the members of the foreign community are planning to assemble thereon. It will be a great ovation.

CIVILIZATION SHAMED IN THE CONGO FREE STATE

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 2.—Captain Guy Burrows, who has just retired from the employ of the Congo Free State government after six years' service, declares in an interview today with a representative of the Associated Press that the conditions prevailing in the Congo Free State are a disgrace to civilization and far worse than ever before. He pictures a region of the most horrible character perpetrated on the natives by officials and whites who had concessions of rubber and, as a typical instance of the means employed by the Free States government, Captain Burrows, corroborated the statement of American missionaries to the effect that the officials employed cannibals to whom they issued rifles to "massacre and capture unarmed natives who had rebelled against their brutal methods."

"I have sworn testimony," said Captain Burrows, "of the Belgians handing over natives to cannibal tribes for the express purpose of being eaten. Forced labor prevails everywhere and shotgun rule is the truest description of the present administration. The companies deriving wealth from the collection of rubber are a more or less state enterprises, as a third or any of the shares in them are invariably held by the government. Last only King Leopold and the government have made some show of action against the agents of some of the upper Congo companies, but only minor officials are ever touched, and the so-called reforms are merely intended to throw dust in the eyes of the public whose indignation has been aroused by the stories of the reign of terror. While the present systems for the collection of rubber and the recruitment of natives continue, the Congo Free State will remain a disgrace to the white man's work in Africa."

THE CONTEST IN OHIO IS STILL IN DOUBT

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 2.—The contest between Republican factions over the organization of the legislature is still in doubt so far as the house is concerned. The claims of either faction would indicate that one element is confident of Pre[illegible] becoming speaker, and the other of Me[illegible] winning. But the efforts of both show that there are yet votes to get, by whomsoever becomes speaker. The list of unpledged members has, however, been reduced today to a half dozen. These six are said to have made no pledges to either side and it is conceded that they hold the balance of power. There was still much come today from the homes of Senator Hanna in Washington, Senator Foraker in Cincinnati, Congressman Dick in Akron, Congressman Taylor in Columbus, and others, especially at Toledo, where Representative Denman is still considered by some as doubtful. There was much communication with the counties in which doubtful members reside.

The most prominent arrival was that of George B. Cox, "the Cincinnati boss," who insists that he is "as good a friend of Senator Hanna as ever," but that he was pledged to Price for speaker before the junior Ohio senator broke with Price and that he is here now to do all he can for Price.

The leadership of the anti-Hanna side was conceded to Cox on his arrival.

It is claimed by the developments today indicate that Congressman Tayler, of the old McKinley district, will like to be an opponent of Congressman Dick for the next gubernatorial nomination and that Tayler from his home is working as hard for Price as Dick is working for McKinnon.

The lines have been sharply drawn on the question of option. The liquor associations have representatives here for Price and the Ohio Anti-Saloon League for McKinnon. In the last legislature Price opposed the Clark local option law and McKinnon supported it.

The senate standing committees are selected by the senators themselves, and the house committees are all named by the speaker, and it is for the control of that office that the factions are fighting.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE TO PUERTO RICO LEGISLATURE

By Associated Press.

San Juan, P. R., Jan. 2.—Governor Hunt's message to the legislature of Puerto Rico was read at 11 o'clock this morning before a joint session of that body held in the theater of San Juan. The building was crowded. The message says:

Tranquility and contentment prevail in Puerto Rico; schools have multiplied; railroads are being constructed; the commerce of the island has greatly developed and exports have increased; agriculture has become more profitable; roads are being built and business is being paid. Tolerance of religion has become more common, religious persecution being forgotten. Referring to the case of Santiago Iglesias, representative of the American federation of labor, who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for a libel (supposed) the governor refers to the difficulties of the existing law and says that the remedy therefor is in the hands of the legislature.

Referring to the recommendation for lawlessness in Porto Rico, said Governor Hunt, "I hereby pledge myself to organize labor, wages by peaceful means, the ambition to better one's condition, American and European methods of organization to be followed, the profits of labor to be worked through peaceful means, the impossibility of a combination being the exception of a few, and knowing the American character I believe that the Porto Rican laborer will be with us."

Governor Hunt urged the sending of a memorial to the congress inviting a congressional commission to Puerto Rico to consider the matter of realty titles.

ALLEGED VIOLATION OF CIVIL SERVICE LAW

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 2.—David A. Nunn, whose resignation as collector of internal revenue of the Fifth Tennessee district was called for by the president a few days ago, today handed his resignation to the president in person. Mr. Nunn was appointed collector at the beginning of the McKinley administration. Soon after he was installed the removal of some Democratic employes led to charges of violation of the civil service law. The charges, which remained dormant for several years, were recently renewed and precipitated the call for his resignation. It is understood that ex-Representative John McCall will be appointed to succeed Mr. Nunn.

ROCKEFELLER'S GIFT

By Associated Press.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Some time ago John D. Rockefeller offered to give dollar for dollar to the Rochester Theological seminary for all funds that institution might raise from other sources up to the amount of $[illegible]. The time limit on Mr. Rockefeller's offer expired yesterday. Rev. D. W. A. Stewart, chairman of the seminary's executive committee, says that more than $[illegible] has been raised for the endowment. Mr. Rockefeller's gift will therefore double this sum.

BATTLE AGAINST RAILWAY MERGER

By Associated Press.

Minneapolis, Jan. 2.—Governor Van Sant and Attorney-General Douglas reached here this afternoon. Both drove straight to the capitol and went to work on the railway merger case.

The attorney-general will leave tomorrow night for Washington and will institute the state's suit Monday in the federal courts. His appearance Monday will be a formality. The court will set a date for the hearing and Mr. Douglas will return to Minnesota. When he next goes to Washington he will be accompanied by George F. Wilson and M. D. Munn, his associates in the case. Then the great battle will be on in earnest.

The institution of the first suit in the United States supreme court is in line with the original plan made by Mr. Douglas and, regardless of its effect on the ultimate result of the fight, it will definitely settle the question of jurisdiction, which is somewhat clouded.

GOVERNOR'S TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN JOURNALISM

London, Jan. 2.—T. P. O'Connor, M. P., in a letter to the Association of American Publishers of New York, declining an invitation to dinner, says:

"As a public man I would have rejoiced at witnessing the tremendous advance of the United States in the last ten years that excites so much admiration and some envy and apprehension in other lands.

"As a journalist I must admit that the greater truth to life, the greater expansion of the sphere of subjects demanding attention and the increasing human interest that modern journalism displays, all had their inspiration from American journalism.

MISS STONE'S RELEASE SOON EXPECTED

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The state department officials say they have no recent news bearing on the case of Miss Stone and therefore cannot confirm the dispatch from London transmitting a report that she has been released. At the same time such a consummation of the efforts in her behalf would not be surprising, as the latest news received here shows that responsible persons are in communication with the brigands, who hold her captive and the latter know these persons have all the money that can be raised with which to ransom the captives.

SUIT FOR EXCESS SALE CONTRACTS

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 2.—Dr. S. A. Knopf, a well-known authority on tuberculosis, in addressing the Academy of Medicine today, said that, contrary to the opinion of the United States government, tuberculosis was not contagious. A man with well defined tuberculosis could do his work daily if the proper precautions were taken and the sputum was removed and destroyed. The government, he said, had stamped all of those afflicted with the disease with a stigma which was not proper. Dr. Knopf declared that the expulsion of immigrants because of alleged tuberculosis symptoms and tendencies was wrong. In the majority of cases they were well provided, not only for caring for themselves but for their families as well.

He recommended that a committee be appointed by the government, of which the president should be an honorary member, to study the disease and to find if possible not only a specific but the best and most approved treatment. The medical profession, he said, would welcome such a commission.

A MONUMENT TO MEXICO'S INDEPENDENCE

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Jan. 2.—Today the Panamerican delegates and their families attended the ceremony of the laying of the corner stone of a monument to Mexico's independence on the Paseo del Reforma. All the delegates signed a document, which was deposited in a strong box in the corner stone.

At this evening's session of the Panamerican conference one article of the proposed extradition convention was approved, the United States delegation abstaining from voting on one clause of the article owing to the diversity of state legislation in the United States, but indorsing the project as a whole. There is no change in the arbitration situation but is complex on account of a slightly improved.

It is learned that the Chilean delegates held an interview with President Diaz tonight with a view of detaching, if possible, the Mexican delegation from the scheme of compulsory arbitration.

SUIT AGAINST CITY

Special to the Gazette.

Grand Junction, Jan. 2.—A suit for the foreclosure of a mortgage against the Grand Junction Electric and Manufacturing company amounting to $50,000, secured by bonds, was instituted in the United States court at Denver. The complaint is by Herbert Fitz, R. Aymar, B. Aymar Sands, Theodore K. Hazzard and Louisa H. Tracey, eastern parties, holding bonds of the company valued at $11,000. The complainants claim that the company's funds are being diverted into other channels, which should go to pay interest on said bonds. Their attorneys have asked for a receiver. The investment firm of Thurlow, Hutton & Williams of Colorado Springs, also have a large sum wrapped up in the bonds of this company, which is a part of the Mountain Electric company, an organization controlling electric plants at Florence, Black Hawk, Central City, Trinidad and Denver, with headquarters in the latter city. The result of the suit is being watched with interest by parties in Grand Junction.

W. J. Bogan, a promoter of wide experience, is in Grand Junction working with Hon. George Smith and others on the high line ditch proposition. The coming of Mr. Bogan has awakened new interest in the matter and the prospects for the construction of the canal are of the most reassuring nature. The survey to be made by the government is only a question of a few weeks. With the survey made, capital will at once be available and active work commenced. Thousands of acres of fine fruit and sugar beet land will come under the big ditch.

Treasurer Williams has selected as his deputy Frank Leslie, night ticket agent at the union depot, in place of J. T. Gallope, who accepted the position but resigned on account of ill-health.

The Water White Oil, Gas and Mining Development company is a new organization composed of Grand Junction and White Water capitalists. The company has several thousand acres of land in the vicinity of White Water and intends to drill a number of test wells for oil or gas.

How Wood Pulp Is Transferred Into Newspapers.

Let us consider how news paper is made. In one of the great mills of the Adirondack mountains, where the giant machines, rattling on, day after day, never stopping, are scarcely able to supply the demand of a single New York newspaper. The timber, which is felled in the forests of the north in winter, is floated to the mill in the mountain streams by the spring freshets, and piled up in great heaps about the mill buildings, whose many roofs, chimneys and towers form a strange picture in the wilderness against the background of cloud-topped mountains.

By being fed to shrieking saws, the spruce logs are cut into pieces that are no longer than a man's arm. "Barking" machines, which have disks of rapidly whirling radial knives attack the wood and tear off the bark. To prevent a waste of any part of the timber, an endless chain conveyor carries the bars to the boiler room, where it is fed to the fires. Another conveyor, like the trotting roughout at Paris, carries the clean logs to the grinding room, where a long line of three-horned monsters is waiting for them.

Flumes, beside which men are mere pygmies, bring the mountain torrents rushing down to the grinding room, feeding the energy of forest cataracts to the great turbines. They have an enormous work to do. With a roar, four cases of the three-horned monsters are grindstones of a great hardness, turned by the turbines. The "horns" are hydraulic presses, which force the logs under them against the stones. Thus the wood is ground to pulp, the stones eating away three feet of wood an hour. The engineer tells us that more than ten thousand "horse-power hours" of energy are needed to convert one cord of spruce into pulp, and that the mills use more power than a whole manufacturing city in New England. Cold water flows continuously on the grindstones to prevent the friction setting fire to the wood, and the mixture of ground wood and water which flows away from the grinders, as a pinkish, gruel-like fluid, runs over screens and through screens and drying machines, until a thick mass, it is either put in storage tanks, in bulk, or formed by machinery into thick sheets that can be rolled up like blankets. It is then ground wood pulp, ready for the paper machine.

The sulphite pulp is prepared in a different way. The logs, when they come from the barking machines, are cut up lengthwise by "splitters" and then cut crosswise into "chippers," into pieces less than an inch thick. This thickness gives the length of the fiber. A "chipper" with its whirling knives cuts up a hundred cords of wood in a day. By falling on another "moving sidewalk," the chips are carried away to be screened, and then hand-picked,—to sort out dust and dirt,—and then are carried to storage bins above the great sulphite "digesters,"—monster steel cylinders, with conical ends, standing upright in a row.—(Frank Hix Fayant, in January Success.)

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Denver, Jan. 2.—The state board of equalization met today and immediately began the work of valuing the corporate property under the provisions of the new law. During the day representatives from a number of the corporations appeared and arranged future dates when they could be present and present the claims of their companies.

Today's meeting was given over to the Union Pacific railroad company and A. W. Scribner represented the company. He told the board that he was not present in his official capacity but simply to aid the board in arriving at a thorough valuation of the Union Pacific's Colorado property. He claimed that if the valuation as placed on the road by the state board of assessors was allowed to stand the taxes will amount to more than the Colorado division shows for net earnings. He insisted that the mode of ascertaining values as practiced by the assessors was unfair. He said they prorated the value of the company's property by valuing the property in accordance as the number of miles of road in this state compared with the total mileage of the company. He contended that a valuation of the road was unjust because the company owned stock in the Oregon Short Line, the Northern Pacific, the Oregon Navigation company and the Tremont and Shenandoah Valley Railroad company. He contended that if the value of the company's holdings in other companies was deducted from the whole amount of credit in excess of the road and the remainder valued according to the mileage the valuation would be more nearly correct. He produced figures to prove that with the year ending June 30, 1901, the gross earnings of the Colorado division was 2,456,892.78; the operating expenses and taxes amounted to 2,103,745.20, resulting in net earnings of 356,147.58.

Last year the road paid Colorado taxes to the amount of [illegible]4,000 under the assessor's assessment; this year its taxes would amount to about [illegible],000 or [illegible]7,000 more than the net earnings.

The board will continue to meet from day to day until all who wish to have had an opportunity of seeing it. In the meantime the county assessors are to, owing out section 100 of the new law, and are valuing the corporate property in the various counties. Thus it will be seen that this property will have three valuations.

Among the articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state today were papers for the National Home Investment association of Colorado Springs. The company will have a capital stock of $50,000. The incorporators are J. S. Zimmerman, Roger Sinclair and Arthur Cornforth.

The special grand jury that has been in session for some time past will probably make its last report and adjourn tomorrow evening. Lately its work has been that of hearing violators of the law in minor offenses. A number of indictments were returned this morning against persons charged with fraud in the election last spring.

C. W. Richards the Rio Grande agent at Fort Logan, has gone east to interest a number of capitalists in a car scale which he has recently perfected and which he will have patented. It is so arranged that it records the station at which a car is opened.

The reports from Pueblo that Lawrence Fox has been sentenced to hang for murder and that his attorney will appeal to the supreme court in order to test the validity of the new capital punishment bill, recall the stirring times that were experienced last winter in the fight to enact the law. The measure as first introduced by Representative Stubbs provided for electrocution but this was changed to hanging. At the time that the bill was passed the upper house sat in continuous session from 2 p. m. one afternoon until 8 a. m. the next morning. When the amended bill was at last returned to the house there was not time enough left before the session had to adjourn to print the amendments so the friends of the bill secured the senate's copy of the amendment and had them placed on the desks of the representatives. The pages were slow in their work and when the final vote was taken before all of the members had secured a copy of the amendments. The opponents of the bill raised the point and a resolution was then adopted declaring that the amendments had been duly printed. This was done in order to save the house journal appearing as though the bill had been regularly passed.

It is presumed here that this will be the ground upon which the bill will be contested. It was during the fight over this law that Peaker Montgomery is said to have made the greatest speech of his life. He covered, one morning during the discussion of a motion to recommit the bill to second reading.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Jan. 2.—The year's opening on the mining stock market is not especially gratifying to any one but those who have been on the bear side of the market for the past nine months. There were heavy declines in a few stocks, and fractional losses in others; and although the trading was better than it has been during the past week or two, most of it is traceable to the heavy selling, and not to any demand for mining shares. An exception to the declining proclivity was Doctor-Jack Pot which was very strong at 44, due to the approach of the time for opening the rich ore shoot in the bottom level; and Golden Cycle was also strong at 82; but Elkton lost almost 10 cents, closing at $1.17½, and El Paso sold down to 55½. Findley was active again, and sold up to 11¾, a gain of over a cent during the day, although the reason for the movement is as obscure as it was last week. Gold Dollar was extremely low at 8, and Isabella closed weak at 31¼. Mint sold down to 7 and Moon-Anchor sold at 20. In the prospects lists the trading was fair, but no features were developed. Little Puck was in some demand at stationary prices, and 70,000 shares of Bob Lee sold at Tuesday's price. Black Belle gained to 19¼ and Sunset-Eclipse sold at 10½.

Many More Like It in Colorado Springs.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Colorado Springs. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence:

Mr. C. S. Keep of 323 E. Caramillo street, Associated Press operator, says:

"Long before I came to Colorado Springs I knew all about Doan's Kidney Pills in the state of Massachusetts, where they are considered a wonderful remedy. I used them several years ago for a lame and aching back, and I have seen scores of statements from representative citizens in Worcester and other cities in the east, all emphatically indorsing the claims made for that preparation. My advice to anyone suffering from either weak and or over-excited kidneys is to procure Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones & Wellington's drug store, 109 N. Tejon street, take a course of the treatment and the results promised will inevitably follow."

For sale by all dealers; price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

The [illegible] Seeing. [illegible] Sight Seers!... [illegible] Mine!...

(Money that you will save by buying today.)

If this point interests you, don't wait and talk and argue and guess, but seize the opportunity. Of the 100 Overcoats we advertised yesterday, there is still good picking for the early comers; and to vary the attraction this a.m., we've put 20 dozen shirts at 39 cents each; in this lot are 12.00, $1.50, $1.00 and 80c shirts. (Mighty few of the $2.00 kind; just enough to make you hot foot it.)

EASTERN MARKETS

By Associated Press

New York, Jan. 2.—The first day of trading for the new year on the stock exchange was signalized by a jump in the volume of transactions to upward of 2 million shares. The coalers and the Pacifics were easily the leaders in the market but the dealings were broadly distributed and the strength was very fairly disseminated through the general list. The industrial stocks were inconspicuous, except for a few of the most important issues, such as United States Steel, Sugar and Amalgamated Copper and People's Gas. Amalgamated Copper had a period of weakness during the early part of the day and Sugar showed occasional relapses. There was very heavy realizing in the course of the day but the offerings were well taken and at a cost of only fractions in the prices. The way in which one stock or group of stocks and then another was brought forward into the advance was characteristic of the methods of professional operators of large capital, and as each new point of strength developed the preceding stocks were sold to realize. In this way the equipoise was maintained and speculative holdings were transferred from one quarter to another, permeating the whole market. The demand was apparently based on general considerations of a good prospect of continued prosperity of the country for the new year and the hope of an early relaxation in the money market. Call loan rates were not so strong as on Monday and Tuesday, but the money market continued stiff and the bulk of operations was apparently by those not dependent for resources on the call loan market. The inspired intimations of the completion of the retirement of Northern Pacific preferred and of the rapid progress of exchange into the Northern Securities company's stock had a notable effect in relieving the depression which has been caused by the fears that the project would be obstructed before its successful consummation. The payment for recemption of Northern Pacific preferred was believed to be a factor in relieving the money market. The prospect of a further effect from the large January disbursements was an additional motive in the speculation. With the Northern Pacific project out of the way it is believed that other projects for combinations will be pushed forward. It is confidently believed that the anthracite coalers are destined for such a combination. The speculation in this group and the Pacifics today may be attributed to these causes. The buying of Baltimore & Ohio was by the same brokers conspicuous in the operations in the anthracite group. It was asserted that the Pocahontas Coal company had arranged for royalties on much of its coal land from companies controlled by the United States Steel corporation, which helped the strength in Norfolk & Western and also in United States Steel. The prediction by the recognized authority in the trade that the coming year will be one of the banner years in the steel industry and rumors of unimpaired earnings for December also helped the United States Steel stocks. Reports were current of a coming consolidation of electrical manufacturing companies. Amalgamated Copper was helped by the firmness of the raw copper market in London and by rumors that a powerful syndicate had been formed to hold the company's accumulated stocks of copper. The foreign money markets promptly responded to the turn of the year and were all easier, with a cheering effect on stock markets. The closing here was active and easy on realization.

The railroad bond market was active and broad and there was a good absorption of high grade bonds. Total sales, par value, 24,640,000. United States reg. 2s and the old 4s declined ⅛ and the 5s advanced ⅛ on the last call.

London Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 2.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cable gram: There was activity all around in the stock market with a buoyant finish in South Africans and consols being particularly strong on the expectation that the New Year dividends will seek investment. American issues are broadening, although mainly on professional support. The continent was a buyer of United States Steel, Erie and Atchison. There was a steady improvement all day. Copper shares were hard though stocks increased 884 tons and supplies 1,158 tons.

Money was easy on the turn of the year with calls at ¼ per cent, and finishing unctuous.

The bank return showed an increase of £12,000,000 in other securities which represents a record market borrowing but there is no apparent squeeze.

British Westin house rose on the New Year yarn about the Morgan merger which is officially ridiculed. It is announced that the Morgan interests bought 100,000 shares of Cottonseed O.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—The wheat pit saw a broad and active session with a tone which ruled strong throughout the greater part of the day. The early tone was easier on indifferent cables and the crowd was influenced to sell. Receipts, however, were small and the prediction of a cold wave set outmoves to buying. To top bulls developed also were small. The bears were aggressive and fought every advance but the operators sentiment seemed to be with them and those mostly moved on the watch. May opened up great in the market at 81 to 81⅞, advanced and then sold under to 79⅞@80c, then advanced to 81@c, closing firm, 1c up at 80⅞c.

Corn followed wheat. Receipts were light and the market opened with higher values, and then advanced with wheat, and then sold off with wheat and closed rather firm at the top. Cash corn was in good demand, which helped the market. May opened at 63⅞c, advanced to 64c and then sold off to 63⅞c, closing firm, 1c up at 63⅞c.

Oats followed the other grains. There was improvement in the demand with higher values, and the market closed with a good demand, which helped the market. May opened at 43⅞c, advanced to 44c and then sold off to 43⅞c, closing firm, ⅛c up at 43⅞c.

Provisions were dull and weak. Receipts were very light and not a car of contract grade came in. May, which opened unchanged, sagged ⅛ early in the session, advanced strongly to 6½c and on profit-taking closed rather firm 1@1½c up at 6⅞@6⅞c. Receipts were 126 cars.

Oats depended largely on the local talent for their market. Brokers reported fully as much doing in July as in May options. Trade early was easy on local selling, but following wheat there was a good recovery and even a fair advance. Shorts and commission houses were the best buyers. May started out easy to steady and sold up to 46⅞c, closing up at 46½c. Receipts were 73 cars.

Hogs products started out rather weak but easily made up the loss. The hog market was easy on large receipts and lower prices at the yards. Lard had the lead. Local traders did the buying. Deliveries were liberal but the grain strength and some short covering kept the tone steady. May pork closed unchanged at 17.30; May lard, 21½c, lower at 7.10, and May ribs unchanged to 2½c lower, at 8.30@8.32½c.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 40 cars; corn, 275; oats, 135. Hogs, 33,000 head.

The Metal Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 2.—Quiet conditions prevailed in metal circles at home and abroad. Tin at London eased off 10s owing to slow business and closed easy at £106, 15s for spot and £103, 15s for futures. Local tin market was quiet and barely steady at 25.15@25.75. Copper in London was without change and very quiet, spot being quoted at £49 and futures at £49, 7s, 6d. At New York copper was unsettled and nominally unchanged at 17½ for lake and 12.87½ for electrolytic and 12.50 for casting. Lead was dull and unchanged at New York and at London, spot at £14 and £16, 2s, 6d respectively. Spelter declined 2s, 6d to £20, 12s, 6d at London, but remained dull and unchanged here at 6.35. Iron was quiet and unchanged.

OUR WINTER SUNSHINE.

GREATER than all the gold that lies untouched in the Colorado mountains is the wealth of golden sunshine that is poured forth from inexhaustible reservoirs day after day throughout the winter months.

To live in a climate where there are no winter rains, to be free from the chilling mists that haunt the seacoasts from October to May, to enjoy the cloudless sky and the long hours of sunshine through the month that we have come to regard as natural is a pleasure which once experienced can never be relinquished willingly thereafter.

There are tens of thousands of people in Colorado who owe to the winter sunshine their restoration to health and activity, yes, and their very life. There are hundreds of thousands in less favored regions who might lengthen their lives and increase their usefulness if they knew what Colorado sunshine would do for them and would profit by their knowledge.

The glittering gold of the mines and the other gold that comes through the development of our agricultural and manufacturing resources is apt to make us overlook the treasure we possess in our climate. In the earlier days this was not so. Colorado Springs began its career, survived the maladies of youth and reached a successful maturity as a health resort pure and simple. Then we had no other resource. Since that time we have become a city of varied interests and have builded our prosperity upon a broad basis.

But it remains true beyond a doubt that in our climatic attractions and advantages we have our most permanent and, probably, all things considered, our most valuable foundation for the future.

The people of Colorado Springs who are "old timers" too often fail to realize the extraordinary charms of our winter climate. As the years go by it gets to seem a natural and proper thing that "Indian summer" should prolong its duration from the time the frost nips the leaves from the shade trees until the gentle airs of spring bring the birds back from their southern visit. It gets to seem the proper thing to sit in the public park in December or to use the open porch as a sewing room in January, to play croquet and tennis and golf in winter with more comfort than in summer, or to do any one of the many things that impress the newcomer as most extraordinary, but which appear strictly a matter of course to the older resident.

And that is the real secret of the remark often made that the winter weather is not what it used to be, or that a particularly fine day is like the ones that we used to have all the time the first year we came to Colorado.

It is not the weather that has changed, but the spectator.

Let him go back once more to the wintry winds of New England, let him catch the sting of the mist that the northeaster drives through the streets of New York or shiver in the icy breeze of Chicago or Cleveland, and then let him come again to the persistent and almost uncertainty sunshine of Colorado and he will experience again all the sensations of delighted surprise that occupied his thoughts when for the first time he realized that New Year day had passed and winter had not yet come.

The winter sunshine of Colorado is a mine of inexhaustible treasure from which we may draw the equivalent of life, health, money, population and everything that goes to make up the great and prosperous state that Colorado is so soon to become.

Too little is being done at the present time to make the facts known to the people who they might chiefly benefit. We are not making the most of our opportunities and our resources.

The alluring promises of wealth in other directions, and the attractiveness of the other inducements that we may set before possible immigrants should not cause us to neglect of our climatic resources.

With proper effort those may be made to act very greatly in the wealth and the population of this state, and no city or town is in a position to profit so much by these things as is Colorado Springs.

MORE PEARSONS BENEFACTIONS.

THE NEWS that Dr. D. K. Pearsons proposes to distribute large additional amounts to those colleges that have made the best use of previous gifts is welcome intelligence. Dr. Pearsons has already earned the gratitude of the people of the west by discriminating benevolence, and it has been understood for some time past that he regards Colorado college as one of the best institutions of the very best examples of what a college not supported by state and with no large endowment fund ought to be. It is not surprising, therefore, that this college should be mentioned in particular as one likely to receive special favors, and those who are familiar with the circumstances connected with the work of Colorado college and its management will have no doubt that whatever sums may come to it from this or from any other source will be well used.

Dr. Pearsons' example in this respect should commend itself to others and ought to add to the respect in which one college is held here and elsewhere. For the good Dr. Pearsons is undoubtedly an expert in his line, which is that of giving away large sums of money in a way that will do the greatest amount of good to the largest number of people. No better indorsement of the good that Colorado college has done and is doing and promises to do could be found than this declaration of Dr. Pearsons.

COLORADO SPRINGS POSTOFFICE.

THERE are good reasons why people should have confidence in the postoffice records as an index of what is going on in the business affairs of any community. The postoffice statistics form one of the ways in which may be estimated the growth of population, the increase or decrease of business, and in general the prosperity or adversity of the city.

It is therefore with a very certain pleasure that we contemplate the record of what has been done in the Colorado Springs postoffice for the past 12 months and compare these figures with those for the preceding year.

The statement is too extensive for detailed comment, and its most effective presentation is in tabular form as follows:

The following business was transacted by the postoffice at Colorado Springs for the calendar year ending December 31, 1901, a part of December being estimated. Comparison has been made with the calendar year 1900.

Not figured last year but decided increases in all items.

But while these figures are especially satisfactory as indicating the general conditions in the city, it is only fair to add that a large share of the credit for this excellent showing belongs to Postmaster Dana and his efficient assistants, whose efforts have made such a showing possible. Mr. Dana has established a record for his position and in former ones as a successful organizer and efficient official, and the best proof of his success is to be found in the results accomplished. He has an equal right with the people of the city to be pleased at the showing made. He has handled the enormous increase of business in the postoffice of Colorado Springs since he became postmaster at a very slight increase in the expense thereof to the government.

If every postoffice in the United States was as ably and economically handled as the office in Colorado Springs, uncle Sam would annually have a large profit to his credit in the postal department.

STAR BALLOON REMARKS.

SIZE is frequently not a test of merit, but when size and merit are found together the combination is a winner.

The Gazette is not particularly fine nor is it brag because the Gazette published 12 pages more on New Year day than the next largest paper in Colorado.

We would far rather have it said that the Gazette was the best New Year paper than that it was the biggest.

But when it comes to being told that we had the best as well as the biggest, and that this triumph of newspaper industry was set before the public within an hour that surpassed all previous efforts in this line, including the Quatercentennial Gazette cover, we cannot fail to feel that our efforts have been successful, and that our appreciation is not asking for what has been done.

The main idea of this special number and the one towards which effort was specially directed was to set forth in an attractive manner the great undeveloped resources of the state and the extent to which they have come to be a part of the life and business of this city.

For Colorado Springs, mind you, is no parasite, drawing its life blood from other parts and giving nothing in return. On the contrary, it has with all sincerity and zeal long ago adopted the policy of working to build up all parts of the state in order that it may profit by the general growth and well being.

No one can have read the New Year Gazette just issued with any attention or regard for general aspects without being profoundly impressed with the extent to which Colorado Springs has come to be a state city, and with the way in which the state interests and the interests of the various counties and communities throughout the state have become commingled and bound up with our own local city affairs.

Incidentally of course, it appears to what a degree the Gazette has come to be a state paper, and it may be stated as a fact beyond doubt that very much of the progress of the city along this line has been due recently to the efforts of the Gazette and the policy which it has consistently pursued.

It is such broad features as these that make the Gazette pratically valuable to send away, and we hope that every copy of this paper not absolutely needed for home consumption will be sent to someone outside of the state.

No one who sees this paper, whether a resident of Colorado or a stranger, can fail to gain in respect for the city that is doing so much to promote enterprise and to hasten development along such various lines and over so wide an area.

The trusts seem to have troubles of their own, of which the latest example is the financial entanglement of the Everett-Moore syndicate. It is by no means certain that the syndicate idea can be successfully applied to all forms of business, and it is certain that economy and good management are as essential in the conduct of trusts as they are in other affairs.

The important thing about the revenue situation is not to determine the particular amount of income or credit that belongs to the fourteenth general assembly, but to arrange some methods by which the amount of money necessary to the proper conduct of the state government may be raised with justice to all and partiality towards none.

The loan art exhibit at Pearsons hall is a most creditable showing of what this city possesses in the way of first class art. The object of the exhibition has been to secure quality rather than quantity, and the result is a collection that would do credit, except in mere numbers, to any of the larger cities of the country.

The sale of the New Year Gazette was such as to make it certain that very few, if any, copies of this edition will be left after today. It is quite impossible to print any additional copies, and all persons therefore who desire to send, either for their own use or to send away, should secure them at the Gazette business office today.

Washington news assumes little or no importance in the specials. If not in the Associated Press reports, however, some of the correspondents have received newspaper instructions to "find a scoop or make one."

Divorced After Years of Married Life

Two divorces were granted by Judge Orr in the county court yesterday. One of the couples divorced had been married for over 17 years.

Moses Dacio and his wife, Matilda, were wedded at Malone, N. Y., Sept. 17, 1884. According to the husband, who secured a divorce from his spouse yesterday, she deserted him over a year ago. The case was tried several months ago, and the divorce was refused, but Mr. Dacio's second suit, which was tried yesterday, resulted in his favor.

Frances K. Block secured a divorce from Alfred E. Block. They were married only a little over three months ago in Pueblo.

Mercedes Freeman began a divorce suit against John D. Freeman, an engineer on the D. & R. G. Judge Orr ordered the defendant to pay into court $75 costs and attorneys' fees pending trial. They were married in Denver in 1881 and have three children. Mrs. Freeman asks for the custody of the children.

Plepmilla Neff began suit in the district court yesterday to recover $2,000 damages from Elton B. Massey. Mr. Neff alleges that on Nov. 23 last he was crossing Tejon street at Cucharras street, when he was run over by a team driven by the defendant and was badly injured. He says that the accident was due to the carelessness of Mr. Massey.

Anna G. Erickson began suit in the same court against Thomas A. Hanks to have a tax deed to lots 4 and 5, block 23, Palmer Lake, set aside, so that her title to the property may be clear.

W. C. T. U. Planning For Eventful Week

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh of Portland, Oregon, national organizer of W. C. T. U. work, will arrive in this city on January 25 on her lecture tour of the west.

At a meeting of the local W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at the Alamo, plans were made for a week's active campaigning during Mrs. Unruh's visit to this city. After spending a week in Denver, the distinguished lecturer will arrive in Colorado Springs on January 25. The committee is arranging for a three days' session of work in Cripple Creek and Victor, one day in Colorado City and two or three days in Colorado Springs. One day's time will be devoted to institute work in this city. Methods of department work will be discussed under the tutorship of Mrs. Unruh, whose experience as national organizer gives her a comprehensive grasp of the entire scope of W. C. T. U. methods and aims. Mrs. Unruh is touring the country in the cause to which she is enthusiastically devoting her life. By her co-workers she is regarded as one of the most valuable and brilliant exponents of the temperance cause.

The social side of Mrs. Unruh's visit is of great concern to the local W. C. T. U. women. A reception has been planned to which all who are interested in the cause are invited. The local committee on reception and entertainment includes Mrs. E. P. Crowley and Mrs. Sarah Jencks, on place of meeting, Mrs. McIlhay and Mrs. Dodge; on social reception, Mrs. White, Mrs. Conwell, Mrs. Harbaugh, Miss Atkinson, Mrs. McRay, Mrs. Purdy, Miss Brooks and Mrs. Kloepfer; on music, Mrs. Shimp, Mrs. Margaret Kleopfer and Mrs. Henderson; on program, Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. York and Mrs. H. Balcomb.

Chicago Stockmen Remembered the Club

The El Paso club yesterday received a barrel of beef from the Union Stock Yards of Chicago. The beef was consigned to the club through Mr. Gilbert McClurg, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

It was sent by Superintendent Leonard of the Union Stock yards on behalf of himself and several other cattle men in expression of their appreciation of the kindnesses shown the members of the National Stockgrowers' association in this city last summer. In a letter to Mr. McClurg about the beef, Mr. Leonard expresses thanks for the entertainment accorded by the chamber of commerce and the El Paso club when the cattle men were in Colorado Springs en route home from the annual convention in Salt Lake City last summer.

The beef was served at luncheon at the El Paso club yesterday and nearly all the members were present to feast on the sirloins. The luncheon was made a club affair.

Soldiers and Guests Dined and Danced

The third annual banquet of company D of the National Guard of Colorado was held last evening at Weber hall. The members of the company were privileged to invite friends and about 200 couples enjoyed the banquet. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and the tables were set in the form of a block "D."

At the conclusion of the feast Toastmaster Major W. A. Davis, who up to last evening was captain of the company, arose and wittily gave a brief review of the company from its formation in January, 1899, until the present time. Major Davis recalled the exploits of General George E. Gardner and General John Chase of Denver and Colonel H. J. Smith of Pueblo, who were on the program for toasts and who were reported to have been at Governor Thornton's New Year reception in Denver.

John Grant, the newly elected captain of the company, responded to the toast "Our New Captain," after which the toastmaster called attention to the fact that Mr. Gregg was not yet in office and therefore proceeded to swear him in according to statute. R. S. Young, first lieutenant, and J. G. Gregg, second lieutenant, responded to "The New Lieutenants." Sergeant Bish to "The Poor, Overworked Non-Coms," and Private Charles Zeller to "Hard-Worked Privates."

The main speech of the evening was that delivered by Mayor John R. Robinson who received much enthusiasm by his toast, "The City and the Guards." H. G. Stone, Jr., spoke on "The Guard and the Press," and W. H. Southard, corporal of the new company I, recently formed in this city, made a very appropriate and witty response to the toast, "Corporals."

Dancing followed the banquet, and with Kinkade playing the Hussar music, continued until the early hours of the morning.

From the inception in January, 1899, the organization has flourished and its success has been due in great measure to the efforts of Captain W. A. Davis, and the company now has a membership of about 60 men. The present officers are as follows:

Major, W. A. Davis; captain, John Grant; first lieutenant, E. S. Young; second lieutenant, J. G. Gregg; sergeants, C. W. Bish, E. A. Bradburn; corporals, C. E. Beebe, T. S. Marble, George Yorke; musicians, Harry D. Harriman, Clarence H. Blaby.

PRAISE FOR MAJOR DAVIS AND COMPANY D, N. G. C.

Major W. A. Davis, company D, Second infantry, N. G. C., yesterday received the report of the board of survey, which checked up his accounts upon his retirement from the office of captain and promotion to that of major. It is customary to make such an examination upon a change of officers.

It was found by the board that some things were missing but that Major Davis and Captain Grant had exercised great care; that the loss was in no way due to negligence of his, and he was relieved from any further accountability in the matter. There has been a great deal of trouble throughout the state concerning the disappearance of equipment, it being reported that one man in the state lost more than a company. It owes, and to prevent this in the future the officers will be bonded in a guaranty company.

Major Davis was elated not only on account of his complete exoneration from responsibility but also because Major Lee, chairman of the board of survey, said that the report of company D was the best of any of the companies of the National Guard in the state.

The board of survey was composed of the following officers of the National Guard of Colorado: Major G. M. Lee, Major Frank Bond, First Brigade; Major W. H. Williams, Second Brigade; Major Fred Fitzsimmons, Second Brigade, and Captain Thomas Kane, first lieutenant and quartermaster, Second Brigade.

AMUSEMENTS

"A STRANGER IN A STRANGE LAND."

Last season's most successful farcical success, "A Stranger in a Strange Land," makes its appearance at the Opera house this evening.

When "A Stranger in a Strange Land" was first produced in New York the critics not only hailed it with delight on account of its merit but sang hosannas because the metropolis was at last enabled to see an American play built for fun, written by American authors and entirely free from the suggestiveness of the French farce which New York and other large cities have been overcome with for some time. It is claimed that "A Stranger in a Strange Land" is wholesome and refreshing in its humor, and yet it is funny from the very first scene. It is presented here under the management of Messrs. Sam Thall and P. J. Kennedy.

The play is by Sidney Wilmer and Walter Vincent, and gauging from the success it has met, the public will want to hear from these gentlemen again. The plot tells of a young Englishman whose guardian, a straight-laced aunt, who has become aware that her nephew is busily engaged sowing wild oats, and hoping to steady him has sent him to America, where, he proceeds to enjoy himself in New York and writes thrilling letters home of his narrow escapes from the Indians that attack him on his cattle ranch near Buffalo, N. Y. In order to make his wild west yarns appear plausible he induces his friend, who is in love with his sister Grace, to assume the role of an Indian. He has a jolly old uncle much devoted to him, also aware of his duplicity, but eager to save him from the wrath of his aunt. The uncle gets hold of a real Indian, the property of a patent medicine fakir, without the knowledge of the nephew, and the complications arise on the arrival at the aunt's house of the counterfeit and the simon-pure articles. The nephew is compelled to continue lying, and in his anxiety to save the young man his uncle goes him one better, lies to his stronger, and as a result makes the mess greater. The cast includes F. J. Donnelly, who, it is said, gives an exquisitely funny picture of the real North American Indian; William Frendal as the nephew, a light, breezy portrayal which is spoken highly and clever in its conception; Chas. Drake as the frisky old uncle; Amanda Wellington as the up-to-date American heiress.

WILLIAM COLLIER.

One of the most delightful events of the present season will be William Collier's engagement at the Opera house on next Monday evening.

Mr. Collier has steadily advanced in his profession until at the present time in his position as the delineator of light comedy roles he has no superior on the stage. Collier is original in all that he does, and this is one of the charms of his work. He believes that it is the mission of a comedian to promote laughter, and this he does most successfully. He is quaint, with the keenest sense of humor, satirical to a degree, understands the full value of witticisms and appreciates the limit of stage license. Everything which he does is clean cut, standing out like a cameo. Mr. Collier will present during the engagement the comedy in which he won so much distinction during the past year, "It is "On the Quiet," by Augustus—the piece that Mr. Collier presented for six consecutive months last season at the Madison Square theater, New York city. It is a clean and wholesome play, and as Robert Ridgway, the hero, Collier is irresistibly funny. He will be supported by the New York company.

MURRAY AND MACK.

The attraction announced at the Opera house for next Tuesday is those two jolly fellows, Murray and Mack, in the second edition of their successful musical comedy, "Shooting the Chutes." These reliable comedians have always been laugh-producers of the first quality. This year they come with an entire new outfit. Scenery, superb, company large, chorus pretty and talented and a staff of principals comprising Kittie Beck, who enacts the principal girl, the five Rosaires, Lillian Durham, Blanche Crengo, Kathryn B. Roberts, Adelaide Mann, Francis Gilroy, Freddie Midgeley, Messrs. Gus Fixley, Theodore Northrup. As a singing show it is promised that Murray and Mack have eclipsed all their previous efforts along this line. As Frank Daniels and Francis Wilson have risen from the ranks of the vaudeville theater of the past, so have Murray and Mack risen until today they present a representative organization in their line of theatricals now before the public.

"RIP VAN WINKLE."

The coming of Thomas Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle" to the Opera house next Wednesday evening is an event to be joyously anticipated, for he comes heralded as a worthy successor to his illustrious father, Joseph Jefferson. It is not often that the son of a notable actor can follow in the footsteps of his father. But Thomas has literally fallen into his father's shoes. He gives to his performance of Rip the same delicate touch of nature, humor, pathos and pathos that has made the elder Jefferson so famous in that lovable character. He will be assisted in this charming performance by ladies and gentlemen of profess onal repute.

THE SUPERVISORS ELECTED AND INSTALLED NEW TERM

C. A. Polen began his second term as county treasurer yesterday. He took the oath of office several days ago before the county clerk. Mr. Polen and the clerks in the office are busily engaged in preparing the semi-annual statement of the condition of the finances of El Paso county.

Mr. Polen yesterday renewed his bond of $150,000 with the Fidelity & Deposit company of Maryland as his surety.

HAPPY EVENT IN NEW YEAR'S DAY

One of the very pleasant events of New Year day was a reception tendered to all members of the Gazette force by Mrs. Ella Celeste Adams.

The reception occurred at Mrs. Adams' home, No. 27 East Platte avenue, from 2 to 5 in the afternoon. Mrs. Adams was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Downs, and by Mrs. W. T. Wilder and Mrs. N. C. Wheeler. Miss Marie Stuart and Miss Xemo assisted in serving. Nearly all those connected with the Gazette attended and it was a pleasant social affair.

MEETING OF THE SWEDISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Swedish Lutheran church, corner of Spruce and West Pikes Peak streets, was held Wednesday night. Rev. George N. Youngdahl in the chair.

Robert Berg was chosen secretary for the year.

The annual report of the pastor as well as all other reports were encouraging. The church is out of debt and during the past year has made considerable improvements on the property. The membership is now 74, an increase of 20 during the year.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $1,222.28, with disbursements, $950.14; balance in treasury $272.14. The treasurer for charitable purposes reported receipts $22.10, and disbursements $6.65.

C. W. Sebergren was chosen deacon for three years and A. Sanderson was reelected trustee for three years. Mrs. George E. Youngdahl was elected organist. L. G. Nelson was chosen janitor with a salary of $50. C. W. Sebergren was chosen delegate to the annual conference meeting, with A. E. Swanson as alternate.

Robert Berg, Albert Peterson and A. E. Swanson were chosen as members of the auditing committee and Albert Hanson and Ole Olson were chosen ushers.

It was voted to take all the collections as prescribed by synod and conference and also that a collection be taken at a suitable time for the Associated Charities of this city. A vote of thanks was given the conference on all the different societies within the church and also individuals who in any way had given the church financia aid during the past year. The meeting was full of enthusiasm and hope and every thing passed off in a friendly manner.

MR. KEW'S CONDITION IS SATISFACTORY

Reports from the bedside of Mr. Arthur J. Kew last night were to the effect that he had rallied a little during the day and his condition was a trifle better.

Dr. Estill, who is attending the injured man, stated late last night that Mr. Kew was a little more rational during the day, although he had not regained full consciousness. Mr. Kew's condition, however, is still very serious and there is little to base a hope of recovery upon.

It is stated that the animal which threw Mr. Kew and dragged him along the road on New Year day was not the one which Mr. Proudfit was driving when he sustained his accident a short time ago.

GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUB COMING HOME

The Colorado College Glee and Mandolin club will arrive in this city on Sunday after the longest trip ever taken by a club representing the black and gold.

The boys have been singing in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming and last night appeared at Greeley. They sing in Denver tonight. Reports from the towns in which the clubs have appeared have been very flattering and the boys will come back with a first-class reputation as entertainers. The home concert will take place at the Opera house next month.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE WILLIAM N. FRIEND

The funeral of the late William N. Friend took place from St. Mary's Catholic church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The funeral was largely attended, Mr. Friend having many personal friends in the city. At the time of his death he was city plumbing inspector and many of the city officials were present at the last services over the remains of the fellow worker. The remains were followed to their last resting place in Evergreen cemetery by a long line of carriages bearing sorrowing relatives and friends.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR MR. BUTLER'S FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Rev. Charles E. Butler will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock, instead of this afternoon as was been announced.

The sermon will be held at the M. E. church, South, and will be conducted by Rev. E. Evans Carrington, pastor of the church and a personal friend of the deceased minister. It is expected that Rev. J. L. Lechetler, D. D., presiding elder of this district, and Rev. H. A. Worsnop, Rev. Mr. Edmundson, both of Denver, will be present to participate in the services. The late Mr. Butler was formerly pastor of the M. E. church, South, here and had many friends in the city. It is expected that the funeral will be largely attended.

CASE AGAINST KINNEY MAY BE SETTLED

The hearing of M. Kinney, on the charge of having embezzled $2,500 worth of mining stocks belonging to Isabella Price of Denver, was again continued yesterday morning by Justice McClelland. The hearing was set for Jan. 11, and in the meantime Mr. Kinney is held under $2,000 bond.

It is said that the case will be settled and the prosecution dropped. Yesterday's continuance was the second one granted by Justice McClelland in the case.

WHAT A PIANO PROVIDES

The piano represents more money than nearly single articles, but it pays more in return for the outlay.

With only an ordinary player it provides entertainment for family and friends, makes home more attractive for the children, and develops a refinement and culture that cannot be obtained from books alone.

Good people will economize to provide their children with an education, and that includes music.

The Knight-Campbell Music Co.'s easy payment method makes it easier to own a piano than you think.

TO OPEN ELKTON'S LOWER LEVELS

Steps Will Be Taken at Once to Secure Pumps—Decrease in Year's Development Contributes Best Reason—Stock Comes Much Lower.

A session of the Elkton board of directors was held Tuesday, and the proceedings were made public yesterday by President Bernard. The most important action of the meeting was the appointment of an executive committee in the persons of Dr. Graham, Messrs. De La Vergne and Aldrich who are authorized to act in co-operation with the president in opening up the lower levels of the mine as soon as possible.

Steps will be taken at once to procure such additional pumps as are necessary to handle the water in the lower levels, and two new 250-horse-power boilers will be installed, which will bring the total capacity up to 1,600 horse power. This, it is thought, will be sufficient to operate all the pumps which will be necessary to open the eighth, ninth and tenth levels. The theory is advanced by some that there will be less water to handle as depth is gained.

The Elkton company has been considering during the past six months the advisability of running in a tunnel to tap the workings at about the present water level; but it has been decided that this method is too slow and expensive, and the pumps will be resorted to.

The break in Elkton yesterday to $1.17½ caused a great deal of excitement on 'change, and much despair among stockholders. President Bernard, in reply to a question asking his opinion of the reason for the stock's decline, replied:

"There are several reasons to cause a decline, perhaps the strongest one being that the money market here is so tight that many stockholders have had to realize, and the liquidation of some foreign stockholders has scared out some local holders of the stock. Then, too, the water trouble which we had last year has caused us to lose about a year's development work in the mine."

"Do you believe, then," he was asked, "that the company is justified in maintaining a four-cent dividend rate?"

"Yes," he replied, "considering the fact that the present ore reserves will last a year without touching the eighth level. We are draining the water so fast that it will soon be overcome to allow us entry into the eighth level, and we propose to sink the shaft to a depth of 1,000 feet at once."

It has been strongly hinted that the reserves of the mine are seriously smaller; and this reason alone is responsible for the heavy selling of the shares, which many claim they can trace to certain insiders; but President Bernard's statements as to the reserves is very emphatic.

It is also understood that Manager Sol Camp intends to sever his connection with the mine, which is another of the rumors which has caused the wild selling in the stock. In the past few weeks it has declined over 25 cents, while at one time in the past year it was selling around $2. President Bernard gives it as his opinion that the shares will see that price again during the coming year.

COMPLAINTS OF NEW BUILDING

Nearly All the Offices in the New Exchange Building Are Rented—A Scene of Much Activity.

All the rooms in the new Mining Exchange building have been taken except five rooms on the third floor, which will be leased in a few days. Yesterday may be considered the opening day for the new building.

For several days past the transfer wagons have been busy hauling in the fixtures of the various brokers and law firms, until the building from top to bottom is alive with activity. All of the two dozen brokers, mining companies and law firms are hurrying to get everything in place, and through it all there is an air of much satisfaction that each will have such superb offices. The offices in the building are occupied as follows:

GROUND FLOOR.

The New York stock department of Wm. A. Otis & Co.; the Colorado Title and Trust company, and the Colorado Springs Mining Stock association hall and rooms which will be occupied January 15th.

SECOND FLOOR.

ATKINSON WELL AGAIN IN SHAPE

And Drilling Still Active Progress—News Of Secured in the Well While Drilling Was Suspended.

An officer of the El Paso Gas and Oil company was seen yesterday in regard to the progress of operations at the Atkinson well, north of this city. He stated that, after some delay, drilling was now again in progress and things were going very smoothly.

"There has been an opinion prevalent," he said, "that we have been encountering many difficulties, but this is hardly a correct one. Although the derrick had to be strengthened against the wind, there have been no accidents since the casing broke some time ago. We have now put in our new and stronger casing, and by the introduction of an underreamer, which spreads out and allows the casing to be put down much faster, the work is really progressing more satisfactorily than at any time in the past two months.

"Drilling is now going on continuously, the well being today 1,200 feet in depth, and it will be pushed several hundred feet deeper as soon as the work can be accomplished. While drilling was suspended, a great deal of oil seeped into the well, which was taken out, and which is stronger encouragement than any we have had at any time since the work was first undertaken."

ISABELLA STOCKHOLDERS PERPLEXED TO DISPOSE

A meeting of representatives of the rival factions of the Isabella company was held yesterday afternoon, when it was proposed by those representing President Williams that a joint circular, setting forth the position of both sides, should be issued and sent to all the stockholders alike, and that the matter should rest with them. This proposition was not accepted by those representing the minority, who "want their full rights, so they assert, or nothing."

There have been rumors to the effect that an order for the inspection of the books would be asked of the court, as the present management refuses the request of the minority stockholders to see them; and the matter was brought yesterday when it was intimated that President Williams could probably keep the minority from seeing the books until the annual meeting, at least. Efforts may be made to take the matter into court, although nothing definite has yet been done.

Some time ago certain minority stockholders who believes that the management was not representing the condition of the 14th level correctly asked permission to have an examination made; but although this permission was given, those who first petitioned it, manifested no further interest in the matter, and it is now generally conceded that the management has not attempted to hide any discovery of ore in the bottom workings.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

A considerable amount of interest is being taken in the output of the Golden Cycle company for December, which, it is understood, has proven to be a very good one, netting a substantial profit to the company. The official figures are not yet made up, as much of the ore is still unsettled for; but estimates of the output range from 345,000 to 375,000 gross, from which it would be somewhat difficult to estimate the company's actual earnings. The mine is doing well, it is understood; but very little is being said about it.

OUTLOOK FOR MINING FROM METALLURGICAL VIEWPOINT.

During the latter half of 1899 Leadville district was hampered by an excessive output of sulphide ores, there being no corresponding excess in the output of siliceous ores from its own mines or from those located within feasible reach. It is now demonstrated that as depth is gained the gold ores of Cripple Creek are changing from a tellurium to a sulphide nature. Hence preparation is being made at the smelters to handle a larger quantity of sulphide ores and to develop the needed mixtures at home or distant points of production. The smelters of Colorado, beginning with 1891, have successfully met the requirements of the mines, and so well has this task been accomplished that Colorado ore treatment, from concentration at the mine to the Globe refinery, stands at the very head in metallurgy. It no longer borrows from outside schools or sources—it leads to the world. Its theory is the best for refractory or mixed ore, and its practice approaches the most successful. We can rely, therefore, upon a practical solution of present problems. The dividend list at the end of 1899 will challenge comparison with the grand total that was given yesterday.

The 1901 treatment schedule for Cripple Creek ores was based on 3 materials. The 1902 schedule is based on 28 ores. This shows a tendency to the lower grades—a movement which means the working of many claims that are idle at present and the shipment of thousands of tons from districts which are now confined to the sinking of hundreds. Under long-time contracts, with a 60-day cancellation clause, 27 ores can be shipped from Cripple Creek to the smelters, while the chlorination plants at Colorado City and Florence will handle 4 ores under similar conditions. Mining in Colorado is all right. The new year, in common with the last half dozen of the old ones, will prove the fresh problems as readily as they develop, and the commonwealth will hold its place at the head of the mining and metallurgical columns.—(Denver News.)

THE BEN HUR OPENING.

The Ben Hur company has granted a lease on block 17 of the Little King on Globe hill to Hansen brothers, who have already commenced operations at surface. They are putting down a new shaft and at ninety feet have encountered a good looking vein which gives promise of yielding steady values at greater depth. The new management have been prospecting the territory for the past few days and will immediately commence active operations. The Ben Hur company has its new shaft [illegible] feet above the Gem [illegible] 40 feet from the surface has exposed a strong lenticular vein of ore which is [illegible] in the mine. There is [illegible] to be accomplished among the [illegible] with a [illegible] in the Midway-Ben Hur [illegible]

MUCH CLAIM JUMPING IN THE NEW YEAR.

Just as the old year passed into history there was a considerable amount of old claims relocated by new parties on the ground that the first locations had not done the required assessment work or had failed to fulfill some requirement of the patent law. The work of jumping the claims has been done very quietly and as yet no trouble between the new and the old claimants has been reported. The principal locations were in the following sections: Straub, Copper, Rhyolite, Grouse, Tenderfoot, Gamma and Cow mountains, all outside sections of the district.

On Gold hill F. L. Van Ameringer relocated the ground which he has held for the past 18 months. The same property is claimed by W. F. Burns and associates under the name of the Bassett 1, 2, 3 and 4. This territory contains about 1½ acres and is situated close to the mouth of the Ophelia tunnel. A suit over this property has been pending between Burns and Ameringer and at the trial the first of this week the jury rendered a somewhat compromise verdict, by awarding part to one and part to the other contestant. It is stated that as soon as the case went to the jury Van Ameringer relocated the property, and others also have relocated the same ground since the commencement of the new year.

LEASES ON JERRY JOHNSON MAKE IMPORTANT FIND.

The lessees on the Jerry Johnson property have the distinction of being the first operators to commence shipments in the new year. C. G. Jackson and company are working a lease on the middle block of the Arapahoe claim of this company. A good vein has been cut into on a cross-cut extended 35 feet east from the 300-foot level. The ore has been opened about a foot in width and is flat at the point of contact. A drift is being run cutting through to the foot wall. Drifting to the north will commence with in a few days and the ore body will be proven up. Already several tons of ore have been broken and hoisted, the values varying from $35 to $160 per ton, while the average is placed at $40. Ore bins are now being constructed and the ore will be hoisted for the initial shipment as soon as these bins are completed.

The Jerry Johnson and Damon properties are now in a controversy concerning disputed apex rights, and this discovery in the Jackson lease will no doubt throw much light on the facts in dispute. An order has been obtained from the court allowing the Damon owners to examine the late operations of the lessees. The trial of the suit between these two companies has been resumed in the district court and will not be finished, it is thought, until next week.

LEASES ON ELKTON DUMP ARE SUCCESSFUL.

A short while ago the Muriel Leasing company acquired the rights to the contract that Lyons and Strickland had, required to remove the great Elkton dump. The leasing company has installed washing and settling tanks and all the waste now handled is washed before it goes to the sorters. From the tests taken from the slimes it is found that the average value is $60 per ton. Up to the present date 14 cars have been loaded which average from $12 to $20. The last cars that were sent out show a better value and it is thought the grade will improve as the center of the dump is approached. The shipments are being sent to the mills at Florence but owing to the recent heavy shipments some delay has been experienced in getting the returns. The company can realize considerable profit from the low grade ore as they are at small expense in saving the ore.
